A MORNING WEDDING.

Cupid is always busy, but he has been sending his arrows out very swiftly and accurately these latter months, and some of his shafts have made sure their way to our quiet little inland city nestling so securely, we think, in these fair foothills.

We feel like saying: "Our Mary and Grace were married this morning," for because of their winsomeness and lovely characters from childhood to this day, they are favorites with us all.

But decorum forbids such an expression of proprietorship and this scribe must dip the pen in ink and begin again.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Myers was the setting for an unusually bright and happy occasion on the morning of May the twelfth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, when their younger daughter, Miss Mary, was married to Mr. Herman Barnett, of Chicago, and her life-long friend, Miss Grace Conover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Conover, was married to Mr. Cecil Ramsey, of Monticello, Ky.

The home was filled with guests admiring the decorations in white and green and pink.

The archways were artistic in the intertwining green with the white fringe and pretty, peeping pink buds. The stairway balustrade was daintily twined with white and green. The vases of roses made the air redolent with spring-time fragrance.

Upon the stroke of ten, by the clock, Mrs. W. M. Wilson, with Miss Alice Walker, piano accompanist, sang the beautiful solo, "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Wilson was at her best, her tones rich and pure, her words clear. This was a happy prelude for Mendelssohn's Wedding March, effectively rendered by Miss Walker.

As the march was being played a rustle was heard on the stairs, and looking to the second landing, the guests felt that the sure-enough cupids were lingering round in the presence of little Miss Catherine Myers, niece of Miss Mary Myers, and Master Joe McBeath, nephew of Miss Grace Conover. These little tots were the ribbon bearers. Little Catherine so dainty and beautiful in her dress of hand-embroidered white mull with maline sash and bow. Master Joe, the real little gentleman, with his hand-embroidered white Irish poplin Balkan suit.

After these came Elder Z. T. Williams, pastor of the brides; then Mr. Barnett and Mr. Ramsey arm in arm, looking so manly, so handsome in their English morning suits of dark blue manish serge, with dark gray ties and gloves. These two stood beneath the arch in the southwest parlor, just in front of the Alcove banked with ferns, awaiting their betrothed.

Miss Myers and Miss Conover, pictures of modesty and true loveliness, dressed in strictly tailored suits of Wool poplin, of sand color, with hats and gloves to match and each carrying a bouquet of pink Kilarney roses, met their waiting bride-grooms and stood with them beneath the arch of green and white.

Elder Williams pronounced an impressive and beautiful ring ceremony, which was carried out gracefully by the brides and bride-grooms.

Miss Walker accompanied the ceremony by Wagner's "O Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star."

After the ceremony and prayer, Mr. and Mrs. Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey immediately left in autos amid showers of rice, for Lebanon, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Al Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Cosby McBeath, Mrs. E. B. Barger and Mr. Fred Myers.

The couple journeyed together as far as Louisville, where they separated, Mr. and Mrs. Barnett going for a short stay to Mt. Vernon, Ill., where Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnett reside. From Mt. Vernon they go to Chicago, where they will establish their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey going to Cincinnati for a short time, after which they will be "at home" to their many friends in Monticello, Ky.

There were many costly and valuable presents of cut glass, silver and hand-painted china, together with many hand-embroidered linens, beautiful designs in tatting, dresser runners and crocheted counterpanes.

These were gifts from really loving friends.

The out of town guests were: Mr.

Wilcoxson, of Greensburg, grandfather of Mrs. Barnett and Miss Wilcoxson, cousin of Mrs. Barnett; Mrs. Waddels and Miss Ramsey, sisters of Mr. Ramsey, from Monticello; Mr. and Mrs. Cosby McBeath, Master Joe McBeath and little Miss Christine McBeath, of Monticello, Ky. Mrs. McBeath is the only sister of Mrs. Ramsey. Mr. A. Myers, brother of Mrs. Barnett, with Mrs. Al Myers and Master Robert Page Myers, also of Monticello.

Our little city joins in best wishes for lives full of happiness and prosperity—as God gives happiness and prosperity—for these four young people.

Columbia Graded and High School Close.

The Columbia Graded and High Schools closed the best year in the history of the schools Friday afternoon, when the pupils were given their reports for the year.

County Superintendent Huffaker was present and made a short talk in which he mentioned some of the needs of the school. When he said the greatest need of the school was a new building, the student body burst forth in round after of applause. Talks were made by all the teachers urging the continued faithfulness of the pupils. Miss Nave's talk to the High School was excellent.

The continued growth has made it necessary for the enlargement in some way. The students realize this fact more than any not so closely connected with the conditions. There, too, is a strong sentiment among the patrons of the school, and the citizenship at large, that the town should have something of which it would be justly proud, in which to place their material. The town cannot reach a higher state than its citizenship, thus if a high state of citizenship be maintained, there must continue to be a high standard of education maintained for all its people. The town justly feels proud of the work being done in its public schools.

The school again this year, had an able corps of teachers to assist Prof. Wilson, and things have been pushed forward since the beginning of school last fall. This year the daily attendance has been more than 200. There have been 271 enrolled in school, while there are 281 in the school census. A number of students from each grade have been present each day in the year. Five out of eight of the Senior class have been present each day. The average daily attendance this year has been about 30 higher than the previous years of the school. The High School department this year has also had a higher attendance than any previous year, and has been well cared for. The continued growth of this department is assured.

CLASS NIGHT.

A large audience crowded the gymnasium for the exercises. Those who could not get seats stood and listened to the exercises of the evening. A splendid program was given. All the papers were good, and the address to the class by its President, Mr. Young Todd, was pronounced far above the average for such addresses by those who heard it. A chorus made up from some of the best singers of the town gave some excellent music.

COMMENCEMENT.

The beautiful decorations of flowers at the exercises of the evening added to the already beautiful interior of the new Baptist church, where the exercises were held. Four of the members of the class made speeches and one gave a Piano Solo. The Essay of Miss Mary Breeding was splendid and showed she had studied her subject closely. The delivery was good. The Solo of Miss Cary Rosenfield brought forth much applause. It was greatly appreciated by the audience. The three orations by the young men, Edgar Diddle, Clay Smith and Arthur Holliday were good enough for college students—so said Prof. Noe to one of our citizens.

Prof. Noe, who made the address of the evening, paid a high compliment to the school. His address delighted all who heard it. It was excellent.

The music of the evening was as good as has been given for some time in the town. A chorus composed of local talent rendered a number "Come Where the Lilies Bloom" that will be remembered by the people who heard it for sometime. Two beautiful duets were given by Mesdames Montgomery and Wilson.

At the close of the evening's exercises, Diplomas were presented to the graduates in a short, but very appropriate address, by Supt. Wilson.

The committee solicits your attendance on the Hamilton lecture, "The Art of Living Together; and Some Other Matters," at the Court House on Tuesday evening, May 25th, at 8 o'clock.

I will make switches, one or three stem, 50 cents. Send hair by mail or otherwise.

Successful Year for Lindsey-Wilson.

Never has a more successful school year been recorded for Lindsey-Wilson Training School than the one that came to a close Monday morning with the graduation exercises for the year.

The commencement exercises have been unusually interesting; the attendance at each performance has been large, and each auditor enthusiastic in appreciation of the proficiency displayed by those on the program.

The exercises opened Wednesday afternoon with a delightful May Pole Dance given by pupils of the Primary grades. The little folks had been carefully trained by the teachers of this department, Misses Heyd and Chandler, and reflected much credit upon their teachers.

Before leaving, the friends and patrons were invited to inspect the work on display done by the pupils of this department during the year which was sufficient proof of the excellent work done by both pupils and teachers.

Wednesday evening the Declamatory contest drew a large audience to hear five young men contest for the "Lyon Medal" offered by Rev. A. P. and Prof. Dandridge Lyon. The contestants were Messrs. Cleo Petty, Guy Stevenson, H. T. Speak, David Vance and William S. Hynes.

All of the declamations were delivered in a strong and satisfactory manner, but the able judges finally decided that the medal should be awarded to William Hynes. Rev. Chandler has had charge of this work this year, and although this department is young, the success of the first contest guarantees more successes of this nature in the future.

Thursday afternoon the Junior pupils of the music department entertained an appreciative audience. Many of the pupils appeared in public for the first time, but owing to their persistent work and excellent training of their teachers, Misses Hewett and Chandler, they scored a success that would have done credit to experienced performers.

Friday evening was the time set for the recital given by Misses Alma McFarland and Nellie Huffaker, the graduates of the music department this year.

Both young ladies gave their many friends every reason to feel great pride in their musical achievements, as their interpretation of the great masters from whom their difficult selections were taken, was indeed remarkable.

Saturday evening the advanced pupils of the music and expression departments presented to the crowded house an excellent program.

Lack of space alone prevents us from giving each young lady a special mention, for each member of the class certainly deserves many complimentary remarks for the masterful manner in which they rendered their selections.

At the close of the program medals offered by Miss Hewett for the highest grades made in her department during the year, were presented by Bro Chandler with fitting remarks to Misses Margie Buster and Nellie Huffaker.

The people of Columbia as well as the pupils and graduates indeed enjoyed a great treat when Dr. Gross Alexander delivered the Baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning at the M. E. Church.

Monday morning the Graduating exercises took place in the chapel and Misses Frances Workman, Dexter English, Ida Hogard, Messrs. Sam Duvall, Joe Harris, Guy Stevenson, Joe Hogard and Lawrence Sullivan received diplomas for work faithfully accomplished in the Training School course and Misses Alma McFarland and Nellie Huffaker received certificates of graduation from the music department. Solos were rendered by both these young ladies and the other class was represented by Mr. Duvall, who gave an excellent oration entitled, "Woman in Politics," and Miss Workman whose subject was "The American Girl."

Then followed a masterful address by Dr. Alexander—"The Advantage of Disadvantage," and these powerful truths could not but sink deep into the hearts of the listeners.

The diplomas were presented by Prof. Chandler with a few, but impressive remarks, after which Prof. Moss made a short talk.

Thus came to a close twelfth and one of the most successful terms of Lindsey-Wilson Training School.

The Dixie Highway Meeting.

The Meeting held in Campbellsville last Thursday in the interest of the securing the Dixie Highway through this section, was composed of representatives from Russell, Adair, Taylor, Marion and Washington counties and every speaker held out the hope of securing the road. While it was not an overflow meeting, yet it was representative of a good strong sentiment behind the movement in every county and clearly indicated a determination to make a fight to secure it at the Chattanooga meeting. It is not our purpose to report this meeting in detail, but merely to mention the fact the fight is to be made by a delegation from each county in the meeting next Thursday in Chattanooga and while late in entering the contest, yet, so many points of advantage that will be represented, makes a hopeful situation.

Mr. Hamilton Lecture.

Rev. Frederic A. Hamilton holds degrees from Hanover College, Louisville Theological Seminary, Princeton University and Chicago Theological Seminary. He has resided in Columbia for the past two years, being engaged for the most part in literary work while here. Some of his friends have asked Mr. Hamilton to deliver a lecture to the people of Columbia, and this he gladly agreed to do. He will speak at the Court-house on Tuesday evening, May 25th, at eight o'clock, his subject being, "The Art of Living Together; And Some Other Matters." The committee having in charge the details cordially invite our townspeople to hear Mr. Hamilton.

Candidates All Here.

There were too many candidates who mounted the rostrum Monday afternoon for this paper to undertake to comment upon the speeches.

All the aspirants were Republicans but one, Mr. Mat S. Cohen, of Madison county, who is a candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. We will have something to say of his candidacy next week. The following district candidates, made speeches in the order named:

For Circuit Judge—Lilburn Phelps, J. C. Carter, G. M. Miller.

For State Senate—D. E. Hatcher, R. B. Trigg.

For the Legislature—H. C. Baker, G. L. Perryman, L. T. Neat, Dr. L. C. Nell.

When Peace Comes.

When the dove of peace flutters over Europe, and tranquility again spreads its wing over that unhappy land, an era of tremendous prosperity will be opened up to the United States.

The demand for our products will be greater than our power to supply.

Every conceivable industry will be taxed to its utmost to meet the insistent cry from abroad.

Every farmer, every manufacturer, every laborer will be called upon to work unceasingly that the ever increasing demand for products may be met.

And Europe pays with gold.

Just what condition are we of this community in, to reap our full share of this coming influx of foreign gold?

Are our farmers utilizing every foot of ground, that the greatest of all crops may be produced?

Are our manufacturers laying their plans for an increased output of their wares?

Are we, as a people, alive to the glorious opportunity that approached?

If not the time is opportune for us to be up and doing.

Work will accomplish many things.

But opportunity and procrastination never clasp hands.

There's no question about it this spring. Better leave 'em on a while longer.

Must Die In Chair.

Turner Graham, the Hardin county desperado who shot down Sheriff Robt. McMurtry Dec. 12 as the latter was trying to arrest him for the murder of James Wood at Upton, will die in the electric chair at Eddyville unless executive clemency is interposed, which is hardly possible.

This was the decision of the Appellate Court at Frankfort, which on Tuesday affirmed the verdict of the Hardin Circuit Court, which found him guilty of murder in the first degree. In affirming the verdict of the lower court, the Court of Appeals said that it was shown that Graham had received a fair and impartial trial, and that the verdict was brought in only after conclusive evidence had been offered by the commonwealth.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. Obtainable at Paull Drug Co. Ad

Cut Worms Plentiful and Busy.

Farmers tell us they have never known the cut worms to be more plentiful or destructive than they have been this spring. The ground has been fairly alive with them, and they have gotten in their work on nearly everything that has been planted in both field and garden. Corn, tobacco plants seem to have been the especial favorites of the "pesky varmints" and with these they have wrought wholesale destruction. They have cut down plants in some tobacco beds as completely as if the work had been done with a hoe.

There is an old rhyme for corn-planting which designates five grains to a hill, and is as follows:

"One for the blackbird,
One for the crow,
One for the cutworm,
And two to grow."

This year the cutworm is claiming all five as his share.

A Permanent Cure For Chronic Constipation

Although those may dispute it who have not tried it, yet thousands of others, who speak from personal experience, assert that there is a permanent cure for chronic constipation. Some testify they were cured for as little as fifty cents, years ago, and that the trouble never came back on them, while others admit they took several bottles before a steady cure was brought about.

The remedy referred to is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been on the market for over a quarter of a century and has been popularized on its merits, by one person telling another. The fact that its strongest supporters are women and elderly people—the ones most persistently constipated—makes it certain that the claims regarding it as a permanent cure for constipation have not been exaggerated.

It is not violent like cathartic pills, salts or waters, but operates gently, without griping and without shock to the system. It contains tonic properties that strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with and nature is again solely relied on. Among the legions who testify to these facts are J. F. Blankenship, Sharon, Tenn., and Beulah L. Rogers, Kosmosdale, Ky., and they always have a bottle of it in the house, for it is a reliable laxative for all the family from infancy to old age.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

If there are sluggish streams or ponds near you, you must keep a double watch, for the flies breed fast in such localities.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid Of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised, and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. Wise and Otherwise.

In rest there are always two elements—tranquility and energy; otherwise it is mere stagnation.

Few of the men who are willing to give you a recommendation would give you a job.

It is the law of influence that we become like those whom we habitually admire.

The man who has a jolt coming to him seldom realizes it until he strikes out.

Really big men are measured by what they do, not by what they do, not by what they say.

It is easy to find a man who is willing to grunt while you lift.

Touchiness is self-love inflamed; it is conceit with a hair trigger.

The latest ruling by Attorney General Garnett in regard to the funds raised for road improvement through the issue of bonds and derivable from the state is another important reason why every taxpayer should vote for a bond issue.

Warnings were sent to the Lusitania from London and it is surprising that after she received them the steamer did take the mid channel course.

This is the "Thornhill" Wagon—the Wagon that Must Make Good

The best known materials—the labor of master workmen—the aid of the most ingenious modern machinery have been employed to make the Thornhill wagon.

The wheels are made with excessive care. For the spokes the manufacturers use the finest hickory—machine driven to insure the right dish. The hubs are of oak, thoroughly seasoned and banded with double refined sable iron.

The bolsters are of the best white oak. They have an iron plate at top and bottom, riveted through and through—multiplying their strength.

The "Thornhill" has a malleable front hound plate that is braced to the hounds at all points. This is an exclusive "Thornhill" feature. It prevents the gears from ever getting out of line and causing hard pulling.

"Thornhill" wagons are equipped with long sleeve malleable—non-breakable skeins that insure light running, and outlast any other skein. Each skein is fitted to its axle with a Defiance machine—infinitely accurate. This machine insures the right pitch and tuck, makes light draft a certainty.

The axles are of toughest hickory—the steel axles of the best refined steel.

The sides of "Thornhill" beds are made of poplar. It costs the makers more—but it holds paint better and gives better service.

Come in and see this wagon—sold under a binding guarantee.

Attorney General Garnett argued before the Supreme Court, last week, in favor of the constitutionality of the Webb-Kenyon bill. The bill provides that one State can not ship liquor into dry territory of another State.

Judge I. H. Thurman, of Washington county, knowing that the Adair County News has a good circulation in Green and Taylor counties, said counties being in his Judicial district, takes the opportunity of announcing his candidacy for re-election to the office of Circuit Judge in the Eleventh district, in said paper. He is making the race for re-nomination on his record, and he invites a close inspection of his acts since he has been upon the bench. Long before he commenced serving the district as its Circuit Judge, his reputation as a lawyer was not only known in the counties composing the the district, but throughout the State. As a Judge his opinions are clearly given, and as a quick dispatcher of business he has but few equals, his opinions seldom being reversed. He is a true Kentucky gentleman, a just man, one who delves for the right, and he is invariably found doing business along that line. He feels grateful to his friends for past favors, trusting that they will support him in the coming August Democratic primary for re-election.

Hon. John W. Rawlings, the well-known lawyer, of Danville, whose name has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for Attorney General, has decided not to enter the contest, but will, in a short time announce for Superintendent of Public Instruction, the latter position appealing to him more strongly. For twenty-five years he was at the head of the educational affairs of Boyle county. He is not only an educator, but is a lawyer of recognized ability.

Hon. E. J. McDermott's secretary writes a friend here that Jefferson's candidate for Governor will speak in Columbia at an early date.

DEVELOPMENTS IN WAR SITUATION.

The British battleship Goliath was torpedoed and sunk at the Dardanelles by a Turkish destroyer, with the loss of about 500 lives. Official announcement to this effect was made to-day in London, together with the statement that two Turkish gunboats and a Turkish transport had been sunk. A British submarine made its way entirely through the Dardanelles straits into the sea of Marmora, where it attacked the Turkish vessels.

The French War Office announced that successes had been won in the new offensive movement of the Allies just South of the French border. It is said the French captured the fort at Notre Dame de Lorette, with many trenches; the village of Carency and most of the village of Neuville, and that hundreds of Germans were bayoneted and 1,500 taken prisoners.

A dispatch from Tarnow, Galicia, says the great battle in that region is nearing a conclusive phase. Terrific fighting continues to the East of Tarnow. Along the Carpathian front the Austrian advance is believed to have placed the Russians in danger of being surrounded.

The growth of anti-German feeling in England since the sinking of the Lusitania led to the announcement by Premier Asquith to-day of the government's decision to repatriate all aliens over military age from countries with which Great Britain is at war, as well as alien women and children in certain cases.

Unofficial reports from the Dardanelles state that the Allies have won complete successes in their campaign for their possession of Constantinople. The Turks are said to be losing ground steadily in the land fighting, and the effectiveness of their forts is reported to have been impaired greatly by the fire of the allied warships. French and British ships entered the Dardanelles again yesterday and bombarded forts as far up the straits as the Narrows.

The possibility of a final Austro-German victory in Galicia as a result of the advance from Cracow is said by the War Office at Petrograd to have been eliminated. The Russians, strongly re-enforced, are now occupying advantageous positions, the War Office states, and are preparing to seek revenge. The German victory is attributed to the concentration of more than 150,000 of the finest German troops along a short front in the neighborhood of Krosno for the sudden blow struck at the Russian line.

The Union of South Africa forces have penetrated further into German southwest Africa. An official statement from Capetown announces the capture of Windhoek, capital of the German possession.

Austria is preparing to proclaim a state of siege in its territory along the Italian frontier in case of war with Italy. The exodus of Italians from Austria continues in great numbers and strong Austrian forces are being brought in continually to points near the border. The decision of Italy, however, is still to be reached and Parliament may be called upon to assume the responsibility.

CHIEF DEPUTY JAILER AIDED.

Pat Donahue, of Jefferson County, is Benefited by Tanlac

Louisville, May 19.—Pat Donahue, Chief Deputy Jailer of this, Jefferson county, a man of unquestioned honesty, and integrity, is among well-known Louisville people who endorse Tanlac, the new medicine that is accomplishing such remarkable results in this city. Mr. Donahue's statement is as follows:

"It gives me great pleasure to recommend Tanlac, as I have found it quite beneficial in my case. I have used the medicine for a general run-down condition of the system."

The demand of Tanlac, the preparation referred to by Mr. Donahue, is now very great in Louisville, and is steadily increasing. In this connection, L. T. Cooper, who is personally directing the introduction of the famous medicine, said:

"I am, indeed, gratified to see such marked enthusiasm, as I now feel justified in my prediction that Tanlac would prove just as successful in Louisville as it has in the larger cities. The system, besides being purified by Tanlac, is toned up and invigorated, as the preparation, aside from assisting the blood, reinvigorates the constitution, overcoming, as it seems to quickly do, nervousness, indigestion, nonassimilation of food, headaches, backache, dizziness, kidney complaints, general rundown condition of the system, and many other complaints that are so common to thousands in this section.

"Tanlac is especially valuable in catarrhal affection of the mucous membranes, which I consider the foundation of most ailments and diseases. People who are affected with catarrh of the head, throat and stomach are generally moody and depressed, with an occasional dull headache, accumulations in the nose and throat, affected memory, and a depreciated sense of smell and taste, which finally results in an affected hearing."

Dust off Your Brains.

Listen—sit up—take notice!

Every ounce of your brains will be needed in commercial life this year—and more, if you had them.

Dust them off—get rid of the cobwebs—give them full sway.

Better times are being felt even now all over the country—opportunities are opening up to us—prosperity is knocking at our door.

Dust off your brains!

Put them and your capital to work reconstructing our battered commercial life—inject new energy into the farmers and our business enterprises—spread the gospel of confidence abroad in the land—and boost for our own community.

Dust off your brains!

Then go to work and use them—get every ounce of energy out of them—make every moment count for greater and better things.

Opportunity!

It is ours—and it is the opportunity of a lifetime, the great opportunity of our national existence.

Shake up your brains!

Get out and hustle—Work to a purpose—arise to the occasion and be equal to the emergency.

For such a golden opportunity has never been before and may never be again.

Polish up your brains—oil up their works—put them in condition for meeting the demand of the hour.

There's work ahead for them—occupation for every ounce of them.

Opportunity was never greater than it is today.

Its knockings at our doors were never more insistent than now.

Trade possibilities were never better—there was never a greater demand for American products—and yet a few short months from now the demand will be tremendously increased.

The great nations of Europe will swamp us with their orders for manufactured articles and foodstuff—and Europe pays with gold.

Dust off your brains!

We have opportunities right here at home.

We want to improve them—to make the most of them.

We must Produce—and Sell and draw in our full share of the gold.

The market is here—is waiting for our goods, for our products of the soil—for everything that we can produce.

There is no limit to the possibilities, for there will be no limit to the demand.

Never Saw a Hog.

Inquiry following a humorous incident shows that 200 girls in various Kansas City high schools have never seen a hog. It had been related that a high school girl recently went to the country and seeing a pig run across a yard asked what animal it was. On receiving the information that the scampering beast was a hog, she exclaimed, "Why, it has hair!" This led to an inquiry on the subject and a canvass of all the high school girls in Kansas City showed that some 200 marriageable girls in the second largest livestock market city in the world had never seen a live member of the porcine family.

Educational.

A very interesting investigation, of wide reaching importance, has recently been made in the case of 1400 students, who having all graduated in 1908 from various high schools, taken at random, in the Central States, later on entered some college. The facts disclosed that only 56 of these 1,400 students entered college immediately after graduating from the high school; 24 per cent., waited one year, 8 per cent., waited two years, and 12 per cent., waited three years before they entered college to continue their education.

This educational retardation in the case of 44 per cent., of college students is certainly worthy of consideration in its bearings on the individual and on the community in which the student has his home and where he expects to be a cooperative factor in its professional or commercial activities. Certainly it is poor economy to permit an individual who might do expert work as a student to become an inefficient servant in society during an interval of relative immaturity, and later, when he might be performing expert service in society to keep him engaged in the work of preparation.

No one would deny that he can perform but a relatively low grade service in society during the years just following high school graduation. Nor has it yet been demonstrated that he is proportionately more efficient as a student during later years.

The logical conclusion is that during the earlier years the individual can make a success as a student, and that he cannot during this period be much of a success in any vocation which requires higher education as a preparation. If the vocation which the student expects to enter demands a higher education, then his discourse ought to be continuous to that end and should be so planned that he may contemplate it at the earliest age possible. Any mode of procedure is unnatural and is wasteful both for the individual and to society.—News-letter from Centre College.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. Get the Habit.

There are two classes of merchants—those who advertise, and those who do not. The man who advertises has the best of the deal. He keeps himself before the public—he keeps his wares before the public, and he keeps their quality and price upmost in the public mind. People talk about the man who advertises, because they know he has something worth advertising—or he wouldn't advertise. Cobwebs never grow in the store of the man who advertises, because the people buy his goods because he does advertise. People read the advertisements—they look for them and expect to find them—and often end in forgetting the man who does not advertise. Advertising pays. Get the habit, and grow with your goods.

From what we hear through our farmers there will not be one half of a crop of tobacco in this section. Some of them have made a total failure in plants, while others have only a very on their bed. We take it that the crop will be short here this season.

Several of our citizens spent a few days of last week on the banks of Russell Creek fishing.

Dr. S. Simmons and James Gilpin were along in the company and they report very good success.

HEALTH OFFICER'S COLUMN.

BY U. L. TAYLOR.

I propose to write this week on the subject of tobacco. Tobacco is a noxious weed that was discovered in North America two or three hundred years ago, and in some way at some time, the people got in the habit of eating it, chewing it, smoking it and dipping it. Tobacco is the natural habit of the tobacco worm, one of the nastiest specimens of animal life that any body has ever seen. The taste of tobacco is sickening and nobody at first loves it. It requires a long time to get anybody's stomach to tolerate it at all. Children, after seeing their fathers chewing it, and smoking it, and seeing their mothers smoking and dipping it, will steal away to some quiet place to take their first lessons in the use of it, knowing that the trial will be a severe one. Most fathers who use tobacco try to get their boys not to use it. But every boy naturally thinks that his father is the smartest man in the world, and if there was not something really good about the chewing of tobacco, he would not engage in it. It is foolish for a man to try to keep his boys from contracting the tobacco habit, so long as he uses it himself. The tobacco habit is so widespread that I suppose that over one-half of the male part of the population of any county indulges in its use. When you talk to a man about chewing tobacco, he will tell you that it is a filthy habit, but it has him so much under its power that he can't quit it. He will not hesitate to acknowledge that he is a slave to his appetite. That he is no longer a free American citizen. If you ask a young man about smoking cigarettes, he will tell you that he has almost quit. That he is tapering off. If you ask a girl about dipping snuff, she will deny it altogether. And I am pleased to believe that she generally tells the truth. But the terrible habit is widespread. Lawyers, doctors, farmers, and occasionally I am sorry to say, I find a preacher who has so far missed his calling, as to indulge in the use of the filthy weed. I believe that as a class the school teachers are freer from the nasty habit, than any other class of people. In all my experience in visiting the schools annually for several years, I have met only one teacher who uses tobacco, and he insisted on me talking to his school about the ugly habit. He said while using it himself, he knew that a talk from him against the use of tobacco would do no good. In this he showed his good sense, while he showed his bad sense by using the weed at all. In an article for this paper, The Adair County News, some time ago, I said that every case of consumption was brought on by promiscuous spitting. I did not mean by that every one who spits will spread consumption, but he must have the germs of consumption in him before he can spit them out, but as no one can know whether he has these germs or not, the safest way, the nicest way, and the most sensible way, is to refrain from spitting altogether. As an economic question the using of tobacco is a very serious problem. I suppose nobody has an idea what the use of tobacco, this poisonous weed, costs the people of this county in dollars and cents annually. I said awhile ago that more than half of the male population of our county use tobacco in some of its forms. One fourth of the people would amount to 4,000. Where people use tobacco at all, two dollars a year would be a small estimate, which would amount to $8,000. More money than is paid to all the preachers and mission in the county. But a bigger question from an economic standpoint, is the vast amount of toil, sweat and money expended in the growing of the crop, and how much this adds to the high cost of living that we hear so much about. When tobacco is planted, fertilized, sold and used, whom does it benefit? No human being has ever been benefited by the use of tobacco, and I suppose no one ever will be. But suppose that every body that raises the weed, should turn his attention to the growing of horses, cattle, sheep, goats, hogs, corn, hay, oats, chickens eggs or anything and everything that can benefit somebody or something, what a great effect it would have upon the high cost of living. If everybody would do this, the question would be settled.

While living in Texas a few years ago, a man came to my home to spend the night. He professed to be a preacher. He lived in what is now Oklahoma. He had married a Choctaw Squaw, in order to get hold of a beautiful piece of rich land that the young lady owned. He was around begging money with which to buy him a pony to ride to his appointments. He had, he said, studied for the legal profession, and had read Blackstone through 17 times, and other books in proportion. After supper he and I were sitting out in the porch and he was chewing tobacco. He did better than some men, for he did not spit on the floor, but upon the ground outside. He sat there chewing and spitting for some time, when he remarked, well doctor, I have a very filthy habit. I answered, "why don't you quit?" He said he would, but he had no company of nights, and tobacco was company for him. I said, where is your wife? Is she not company for you? Well yes he answered, she is very good company of the kind, but she can't talk English and I can't talk Choctaw, and so, we are not very good company for each other.

I knew another preacher in Texas, who was a slave to the use of tobacco. He was an old man, and a very smart man. He had a long crooked nose with very large nostrils. His chin turned up towards his nose, and he had no teeth, and his chin and nose were close neighbors. He had been without teeth so long that his gums had shrunk away. He chewed tobacco almost continually, and when he spat it was like a shot gun of the blunderbuss variety, and a large part of the load would go into his nostrils, so that his nose was always dripping. He took dinner at our house occasionally, and while he did not chew at the table, the dripping went on all the same.

While coming from Lebanon some years ago, on the train, I met with a preacher whose name I have forgotten. He told me he was on his way to hold a revival meeting at one of the churches this side of Campbellsville. We had a pleasant conversation together until nearing our journey's end. When the conductor came round to take up the tickets, the preacher remarked, Mr. Conductor have you any of that good tobacco, that you generally carry? The conductor gave him some, and when he was gone, I spoke right out in meeting. You, a preacher of the gospel and chewing tobacco? Yes, he said, I know it is a bad habit, but I just can't quit. That is astonishing said I, you going down in Taylor county to hold a revival meeting, to constrain sinners to leave their great sins, and turn to the Lord, and say yourself that you can't quit the small sin of chewing tobacco.

There were representative citizens here from all the adjoining counties, and business was good during the entire day.
